Celebrating a Successful Club Year

My message this month is not an easy one. This week, SITM discovered that a number of its members will be leaving to form another Soroptimist club. The new club is being formed to accommodate a meeting format and schedule that is very different from what the governing members of SITM want. This has harkened me back to last weekend’s Sierra Nevada Region Conference, where the SIA President, Stephanie Smith, spoke about change and how it is needed. That is true, but sometimes not everyone wants change or agrees on what that change should be. And Soroptimist clubs are democratic so the majority wins. So maybe change sometimes means that new clubs have to be formed so that original clubs can continue as they want to do and others can get the change they desire. However, no matter how it is accomplished, change is hard—President Stephanie is correct.

But the good news is that the Club year is about to end, and SITM can begin its new year fresh with a new President, Board and Committees. And, of course, SITM members have so much about which to be proud from the previous year’s accomplishments. We accomplished so much this year, from the successful Mad as a Hatter Tea to the great Thanks to Youth luncheon and the many scholarships to women and children, and so much more. Every committee worked diligently to play its part in all of the service work that SITM does for the community.

Thank you to each and every one of you who helped me through my year as President. As a working member, I wasn’t always ready for all of the tasks to be done and was constantly assisted and encouraged by all of you. My heart is filled with gratitude for this year with SITM, which will remain with me always.

President Laury Macauley

In the awards for Five Star Public Awareness, SITM was presented a second place in the category of Innovative Public Awareness and first place in the category of Newsletter.*

Ten Women See Their Dreams Moving Forward Thanks to SITM

By Pam Robinson, Education/Women Co-Coordinator

Dorothy Nash Homes

Six undergraduate and four graduate women were awarded Dreams Moving Forward scholarships at our June 1 luncheon. Our speaker at the event was former SITM member, the Honorable Judge Dorothy Nash Holmes, who shared her amazing story and was truly inspirational to all in attendance.

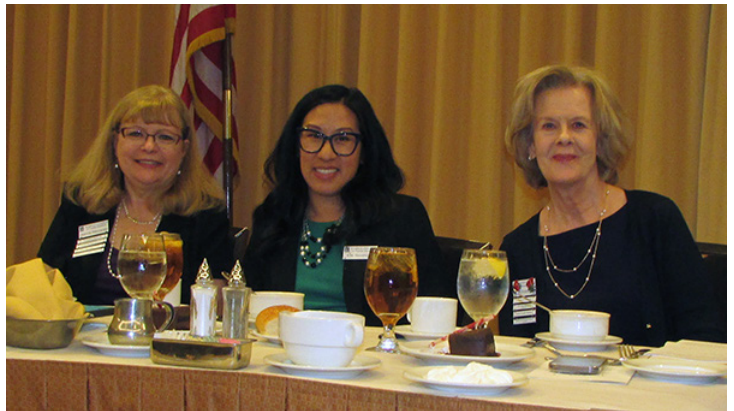

Here are some facts about our undergraduate scholarship recipients. Megan Coscuna is a re-entry student majoring in data science at TMCC with plans to continue at UNR. She is a survivor of domestic violence and other hardships. Kristina Deming is a married student with a 7-year-old daughter, majoring in nursing at TMCC. She volunteers at her church and tutors other nursing students. Bailey Hill is a re-entry student majoring in computer science and engineering at UNR. She is the survivor of an abusive stepfather but was able to move away with her mother. She plans to work in cybersecurity.

Dominique Kent is majoring in English Writing and Museum Studies at UNR. A Reno native, she has overcome many hardships and volunteers at the Disability Resource Center at UNR. Jasmine Maraldo is the single mother of two children and is majoring in Radiology Technology at TMCC. She currently works part time as a CNA. Celina Rowe is also majoring in Radiology Technology at TMCC and plans to obtain additional licenses so she can work in forensic radiology.

Our graduate students are enrolled in a variety of fields. Emily Etter is a third-year medical student at UNR School of Medicine and plans to be a pediatrician and remain in her home state of Nevada. Kaycee Smith is working on her Masters in Business Administration at UNR and recently graduated with a degree in Mechanical Engineering. She has funded her education by raising and selling her 4-H farm animals and designs, builds, and races old VWs.

Lisa Watson is working on her Masters in Social Work at UNR and is a single mom of a 13-year-old. She currently works at the Inter-Tribal Council of Nevada and wants to continue working in the non-profit world. She will be interning this summer at Eddy House. Casey White is working on her Masters in Animal and Rangeland Science at UNR and plans to remain in Nevada working with dryland areas and ecosystems.

The Education Women committee received 20 undergraduate and 7 graduate scholarship applications. After spending many hours reviewing and interviewing, the committee chose these 10 talented women to receive $40,000 in scholarships. Our luncheon was well attended, both in person and on Zoom.

34th Annual Thanks to Youth Honors Students at Luncheon

By Pam Sutton, Thanks to Youth Co-ordinator

Speaker Andrea Esparza told of her life as the daughter of immigrant parents, first to go to college and become a television broadcaster.

SITM's 34th annual Thanks to Youth celebration found over 200 people at the Atlantis Hotel Casino Spa on May 23, 2023. They were there to celebrate the achievements of four graduating high school seniors, who have expressed great desire to further their education and who also have significant financial need. Five Unsung Heroes were also recognized for demonstrating kindness, generosity, concern for others, humility, courage, perseverance or the ability to overcome hardships in a way that inspires others and makes the world a better place. Scholarship recipients each received $5,000 and the Unsung Heroes received $275 cash spending sprees at Target.

Each recipient also received proclamations from local dignitaries and were professionally photographed. Proud parents, school counselors, siblings and friends were there to support them, and a sense of joy and achievement could be felt throughout the event.

Our keynote speaker was Andrea Esparza, a familiar face to those who watch News 4-Fox 11 where she is a Multimedia Journalist. Her story was truly inspirational. From an immigrant family living in a small town in rural California, Andrea was the first to go to college and, against the wishes of her family, she went on to pursue her dream in journalism.

TTY Co-Coordinator Pam Sutton gave the history of TTY and how it has grown over the years.

The highlight of the luncheon was the introduction of each recipient. We got to hear their back stories – the achievements, the hardships and the dreams. There were very few dry eyes in the room!

This year's recipients are:

Scholarships:

Addison Crain -- Reno High School
Alexandra Armenta Munoz -- Sparks High School
Jennifer Rodriguez-Reynoso -- Earl Wooster High School
Anna Maria Zueva -- TMCC High School

Unsung Heroes

Lincoln Butler -- Jessie Beck Elementary School
Hunter Guinan -- Hunter Lake Elementary School
Elijah Myers (Eli) -- Mount Rose K-8 School
Amani Smitz -- Clayton Middle School
Jordyn Stallworth -- Dilworth Middle School

Thanks To Youth comes about through the effort of the Education/ Youth Committee, which works closely with local schools, both public and private, to find scholarship applicants and nominations for Unsung Heroes. The committee spends many hours reviewing applications and selects the most deserving. The Thanks To Youth Committee plans and manages the event, including fundraising.

From a humble beginning in 1987, where Unsung Heroes were presented with certificates and gifts at a special Soroptimist meeting, the program moved a step further, with three sponsors volunteering to each donate $1,000. This money was used to provide scholarships to three graduating seniors who were continuing their education in non-traditional fields such as cosmetology or mechanic's school. Over the years we have given scholarships to over 160 graduating seniors and have recognized over 170 Unsung Heroes.

We are very lucky to have John Farahi and the Atlantis Casino Resort Spa underwrite the lunches, banquet room, and servers. Every penny raised through sponsorships, grants, ticket sales, raffle sales and donations, funds awards for the following year.

Celebrating SNR's 47th Annual Conference

Excerpted from Bev Perkins' Delegate Report

The annual Sierra Nevada Region Conference was held June 2-4, 2023 at the Atlantis in Reno, Nevada. Some 214 Soroptimists and guests attended throughout the weekend.

Patty Elam, Pam Robinson, Jeanne Naccarato and Bev Perkins take on the Lingo Bingo challenge.

Friday afternoon featured "Soroptimist 101 Lingo Bingo" where members learned interesting facts about Soroptimist. Our Federation Visitor, Soroptimist International of the Americas President Stephanie Smith, was there to provide additional information to our lucky attendees. Also Friday afternoon, members were given a chance to meet the candidates for SNR Nominating Committee, for terms of 2023-2025. Delegates were briefed on voting protocol by the Elections Committee.

Barbara Atwell and Beth Sharp at Barbara's booth in the Marketplace while Diana DeMatei does some shopping.

Friday opened with the Marketplace sales area that was expertly overseen by SITM member Beth Sharp. SITM's Penney Leezy was due to coordinate, but due to a hip fracture was unable to attend and sell her beautiful jewelry. SITM's Barbara Atwell, made the cross-country trip to join the Marketplace and sell her hand-crafted blankets, table runners, placemats and more.

Federation Program Chair Susan Horst MC'ed the Wild West Follies for the Friday night entertainment.

Kay Dunham and Diana DeMatei greeted and registered Club Delegates for Conference. Kay was the Credential Coordinator for Conference.

An evening "Diamonds & Denim" cocktail reception, honoring SIA President Stephanie, preceded the Grand March of the SNR Board members and Club Presidents. Members enjoyed a delicious buffet dinner as SNR Governor Lisa Fitzgerald called the conference to order. In the awards program for Soroptimist Celebrating Success, SITM was presented second place in the categories of Program and Fundraising. In the awards for Five Star Public Awareness, SITM was presented a second place in the category of Innovative Public Awareness and first place in the category of Newsletter.

Entertainment for the evening included “West at its Best Follies”, featuring the SNR Board in a choreographed dance to the tune of Dolly Parton’s “9-to-5” ballad. SITM’s own District 5 Director Holly Nash, exhibited her “Inner Dolly” dressed in a hot pink western outfit and lip-syncing along with the tune. They were followed by a half-dozen clubs performing western-themed skits. Line dancing wrapped up the evening.

An eye-opening “Bunkhouse voted on the one SNR Bylaw Amendment extending the timeline for Region Conference to June 15, replacing May 15. Delegates were excused to vote for the candidates for the Nominating Committee member running from their district.

After the “Corral Yee Haw” luncheon buffet, Official Visitor SIA President Stephanie Smith spoke about being inclusive, which means having diversity, equity, inclusion and belonging for all members. She reminded us that we usually judge based on how people look, making assumptions about age, wealth, etc. – and we found out how wrong that can be! This habit prevents us from learning. We should not treat everyone the same, but how they want to be treated. What brings us together is mission comradery. We were encouraged to “be your authentic self” but to use boundaries to stay within acceptable limits – for example, if you like to swear a lot, when at a Soroptimist meeting it would be best if you refrained. President Stephanie showed great self-control in this area. Lastly, she reminded us to “listen to understand,” not to respond – we shouldn’t respond unless asked to do so. She noted that “listen” and “silent” contain the same letters: in order to listen we must stay silent. She encouraged us to listen, be respectful, and be agreeable.

Committee Coordinators gave reports on our SIA Big Goal fundraising efforts. Laurel Society and Laurel Legacy members were honored, including several members of SITM. The Endowment Fund report was given, which included several grants to region clubs. This fund is the recipient of the proceeds from the basket raffle conducted throughout the conference.

During the “Rustlers Dinner”, the election results were announced. The Nominating Committee Coordinator for District 5 will be Katelin Felicetti, from SI/Fallon. What followed was an interactive activity called “So You Think You Know Soroptimist” testing members’ knowledge of, you guessed it, Soroptimist.

Sunday began with the annual “Celebration of Life” ceremony honoring those members who had passed since the last conference. As members settled in for a “Buckaroo Brunch” buffet, reports on the Dream It, Be It and Big Goal Accelerator programs. The Ruby Award was presented to Celeste Wisner, founder of Lassen Resiliency. Then the Live Your Dream awards were presented to four deserving women, all of whom gave stirring thank yous to Soroptimists.

Invitations were given to the 2023 virtual Leadership Round Table June 22 & 23 (coming up soon); Soroptimist Development Retreat August 19-20, at the Atlantis; next year’s SNR conference, June 7-9, 2024; and the SIA 2023 convention in Bellevue, Washington.

After final reports and remarks, the conference was adjourned with the Soroptimist pledge.

Please feel free to address any questions about this conference to our attendees from SITM (19 of us): Pam Robinson, Kay Dunham, Margie Hermanson, Jeanne Naccarato, Faye I. Andersen, President Laury, Barbara Atwell, Carmella Cipollina, Cindy Burk, Sarah Carrasco, Millie Mitchell, Holly Nash, JoAnn Roberts, Diana DeMatei, Kim Goodnight, Patty Elam, Linda Walker, Beth Sharp, or your Delegate.

SITM members ready for lunch and business on Saturday.

Lucky Kay Dunham won not one, not two, but three raffle baskets over the course of the conference.

STEM at Hunter Lake Elementary School

By Kay Dunham and Patty Mamola, Co-Coordinators

At our final session for this school year the girls were treated to cookies to decorate, pizza and t-shirts and also completed a survey covering their experience with our STEM coding project. We all appreciated their comments and suggestions.

The survey included the following questions, along with their answers:

Tell me about something you learned: How to animate, how to block code, design and draw digitally, to work together, coding.

Patty Elam and Nicole DuPont helping the girls decorate their sugar cookies.

What was your goal: making settings, learn to code objects, to have fun, to teach kids how to code and program, have fun.

Did you accomplish your goal?: a unanimous YES!

What did you like best about the activities: the little sphero robots, interesting, having fun, designing art and sprites digitally, we got to work together, customizing your name.

What did you like least about the activities: the way my stuff looked, getting stuck with the coding, not understanding how to animate, nothing, leaving at the end of the session.

What would you like to learn in future STEM classes: how to control a robot, how to animate, how to build stuff, everything, robots.

What would you like to learn about coding next year: Code robots, increase my brain power, make an animation video, everything, code more objects. The girls, 3rd grade through 5th grade, were fully engaged each session, worked as teams as they designed, tested and re-designed their coding exercises. Designing a dragon that made bird or dog sounds or sang a song became popular ideas. Each week their abilities increased so that by the final session they could animate an object/animal/name, place it in a scene they designed and have it make sounds. All of the steps required the use of block coding commands.

The objective for our STEM project at Hunter Lake is to provide a hands-on block coding experience for girls in this near-risk school. The students learn very quickly and are able to solve the coding problems through their teamwork.

STEM will become STEAM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts, Math) at Hunter Lake next fall when we introduce programming robots and a graphic arts section that will enable the girls to design a website. We have been invited back by Principal Amanda McWilliams to continue our after-school program when school begins in the fall.

Thanks to the entire committee: Pam Robinson, Nicole Dupont, Patty Elam, Jeanne Naccarato, Doris Phelps. Great work ladies!

June Board & Business Recap

By Faye I. Andersen

The SITM Board was caught off guard at the June Business Meeting when they received a last-minute motion from three members, Norma Webster, Connie Steinheimer and Monica House, outlining their desire to work towards chartering a new Soroptimist Club. It included their motion requesting SITM to be the sponsor for a new club, SI/Sierra Reno. Of course, there was discussion, but not a lot of time for questions and consideration, since the new club wanted to be fully operational by July 1. So SITM's decision was imminent. The Board recommended to the membership to approve the motion to be the sponsor. At the Business Meeting, the SITM membership also voted to be the sponsoring club for the new SI/SR club.

At the Board Meeting, a second motion was presented by Monica House recommending that SITM work together on the IGU Nepal project starting in the new Club Year. Kay Dunham made a motion to table Monica's motion to allow SITM more time for board and membership consideration. In the end, Kay withdrew her motion to table Monica's motion and then Monica withdrew her motion. Kay also made a motion to maintain a liaison with Monica until such time as the new club is formed. That motion was passed by the board.

The night before the Business Meeting, Monica emailed a letter to President Laury and President-Elect Kay, objecting to a motion from Kay to delay a decision on a liaison and partnership with SISR regarding the IGU Nepal Project until after the start of the new Club Year. Monica wanted to re-introduce her original motion, this time in written form, and stated, "If the club tables this motion or denies the original motion, then SITM needs to know that there will not be any further reporting or newsletter articles from me."

At the Business Meeting, Kay provided her original motion recommended for approval by the board, however it was not taken up by President Laury. Instead, Monica's motion was presented, recommending that SITM work together on the IGU Nepal project starting in the new Club Year. That motion was passed.

Faye I. Andersen then made a motion from the floor that effective immediately all SITM funds for the Nepal Project in the Community Foundation be frozen and withdrawals suspended until an SITM transition team can make a decision in the new club year to determine the direction of the Nepal Project. This motion passed.

The new members of SI/Sierra Reno did not give an indication of when they would charter, saying they were getting organized and getting paperwork completed.

Delegate's Report from SNR Conference

SITM's Delegate Bev Perkins attended the 47th Annual SNR Conference, June 2-4, along with Delegates President Laury Macauley and President-Elect Sarah Carrasco. For Bev's detailed report, see page 5.

TEAse Party Slated for July 13

Fundraising Committee Co-Coordinator Linda Walker proposed a motion to allow the committee to host a TEAse Party for the Queen of Hearts Tea on July 13, 2023. (The date of the Tea is set for September 30, 2023.) The committee is planning games and giveaways, and guests will receive a raffle ticket for prizes. Hats and costumes are encouraged. The Board recommended approval and the membership approved the motion.

Atlantis Contract for 2023-24 Club Year

President Laury presented the new meeting contract negotiated with the Atlantis for the 2023-2024 Club Year. The highlights include our Thursday room reservations for the year, with a requirement of a 20-person minimum for lunch. The price of lunch stays at $30 through December 31, 2023 and will be subject to re-negotiation after that.

Happy Dollars in June for STEP 2

Happy Dollars collected in May totaled $265 in May for Noah's Animal House. Noah's is a full-service pet facility located right on the grounds of a domestic violence shelter. It looks to remove the "No Pets Allowed" barrier at women's shelters for the courageous survivors seeking to get back on their feet with their pet by their side.

Under the policy adopted by the club, any shortfall in Happy Dollars not reaching $500 minimum is supplemented by the club's designated service funds.

STEP 2 is the designated recipient of June Happy Dollars. STEP 2 provides gender-specific long-term treatment services for substance use disorders, domestic violence intervention and education, and trauma services.

Congratulations NWF on 40 Years of Service

By Jeanne Naccarato

On May 25, SITM members attended the Nevada Women’s Fund 40th Anniversary Celebration. Some 1,400 attendees were present, including SITM’s President Laury Macauley, Pam Robinson, Cindy Burk, Amanda Bean, Millie Mitchell, Nicole DuPont, Valerie Hahn, Sarah Carrasco and myself. President Laury represented SITM at the celebration as honoree of the 1991 Hall of Fame Award.

Featured speaker was Sandra Douglas Morgan, President NFL Las Vegas Raiders. Named to that position in July of 2022, she is the first Black female president in the NFL. From an early age, being a biracial child, she experienced unfair treatment and became committed to championing equity and respect. She graduated from UNR in 1999, with a scholarship from the Nevada Women’s Fund. Sandra graduated from law school in Las Vegas with her Juris Doctorate.

She highlighted her continued work in communities and on the board of nonprofits to be part of the change she seeks. A memorable quote from Shirley Chisholm concluded her speech and left her audience to ponder, “If they don’t give you a seat at the table, bring a folding chair.”
